

This is the story of a community that joined together – even when we had to be physically distant – to care, heal, overcome, and stand up to a truly enormous and unique set of challenges.

We experienced so much together over the past 16 months: a pandemic, economic challenges, an emotional health crisis, the continued rise of hatred. This year has tested each of us with our own personal struggles. What stands out the most is that we have been there for one another.

Through your leadership, volunteerism, and philanthropy, you have fed those who were hungry and lifted up those who needed help getting by. You have continued to provide Jewish experiences for families and education for children and teens. Through it all, you continued to make Palm Beach County one of the strongest, most supportive and welcoming communities in North America.

As the needs of people in our community grow and evolve, together we respond to each challenge with strength and unity. This past year, your generous contributions enabled Federation's partners and programs to help those who needed it most. This report highlights the remarkable impact you made possible over the past six months.

The following pages include data, insights and stories that demonstrate the overwhelming impact you have fueled. You'll get a deep dive into shining examples of the impact you created through your giving to the Annual Campaign, Jewish Community Foundation, gifts designated to our partners and programs, and our J-Help Coronavirus Emergency Response efforts.

Together, we have proven that we are an extraordinarily resilient Jewish community, while building toward a future that looks brighter than ever. That's true here at home, in Israel and in Jewish communities around the world.

On behalf of Federation's Board of Directors and dedicated professional team, thank you for all you have done this year and all you will continue to help us accomplish into the future.

Hope Silverman

In total, you enabled us to distribute more than $23 million this year.

Most of this total comes from your contributions to our Annual Campaign. These funds powered Federation's network of partner agencies and programs (see page 16) to address the most crucial needs of our community, while continuing to create powerful Jewish experiences for all ages, combat antisemitism and bigotry, and strengthen younger generations' connection with their Jewish identity.

Visit jewishpb.org/financials to see a detailed breakdown of how this $23 million was distributed to address a variety of vital causes this year.

uses of funds

$6.5 million fueled an emergency response to urgent needs.

Through timely and targeted grants, we responded to emergency needs that arose throughout the pandemic and quickly created and expanded critically-needed services.

These grants were fueled by contributions to our J-Help Coronavirus Emergency Response, designated giving through Federation and our Jewish Community Foundation, and strategic investments funded through our Annual Campaign.

Here is a breakdown of how the emergency response portion of our total was used to specifically address pressing needs that emerged over the past year.

Feeding Families Faced with Challenges

With more families seeking assistance with meals, you helped launch a partnership with The Kind Kitchen of Palm Beach to provide food for those struggling to get by. This new partnership is providing thousands of meals to people dealing with significant challenges, including those who are grieving, in the hospital or recovering from an illness. These meals are doing more than helping families get by – they are instilling a sense of pride in those who need it.

Helping the Unemployed Get Back on their Feet

Your generosity created Jewish Community Career Services, offering résumé writing support, interview coaching, and guidance with unemployment benefits for those who faced job loss and underemployment. You may have seen an interview with local community member Suzzette, who appeared on an episode of Federation's TV news magazine mosaic to describe the challenges of finding employment during the pandemic. As a result of her participating in the career services program, Suzzette has since been hired by a local company thanks to the support that you made possible.

J-Help Spotlight Nearly overnight, the pandemic and economic crisis created increased needs for basic essentials, such as weekly groceries. J-Help Coronavirus Emergency Response met this surge in demands by restocking community food pantries and distributing grocery store gift cards to those affected.

Helping Younger Generations Cope

Working families with young children have been especially hit hard by the effects of the pandemic. This includes emotional struggles related to job loss or reduced income, increased stresses on parents for childcare and remote learning, and coping with a lack of interaction and connection. Your giving helped launch Alpert JFS' new LINKS program, which is now providing individualized emotional support to people under 55 with affordable and accessible services.

Companionship for Survivors in Israel

During lockdowns in Israel, the country's large population of Holocaust survivors has been faced with heartbreaking loneliness and isolation. Through your generosity, Federation's global partner the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (JDC) has ensured weekly visits by volunteers to nearly 6,000 survivors through the innovative Hand to Hand program. The program included dozens of survivors who live in Jewish Palm Beach's partner region of TZAHAR.

J-Help Spotlight

Through your giving to Federation's J-Help Coronavirus

Emergency Response, you supported our Jewish community's hotline.

The "Chai Line", operated by our partners at Alpert JFS, has offered 24/7 resources for people seeking mental health care, trauma support, counseling and more.

While the pandemic has created barriers to participating in Jewish life, you are providing powerful Jewish experiences that connect our community with Jewish values and each other.

Virtual Jewish Education for Children with Disabilities

Zaadin and Linkin are brothers – one a typical learner, the other on the autism spectrum. When the boys' B' nai Mitzvah came during the pandemic, Federation's Yad Hebrew School for Children with Differing Abilities helped them and their family prepare for this important life event. Yad offers a virtual learning environment, ensuring that students aged 4-22 receive individualized Jewish learning. Yad continues to strengthen its standing as the only Judaic school of its kind in our area.

Providing Safe and Healthy Places for Jewish Learning

When our local school district moved to a virtual learning environment, you enabled our partners at the Mandel JCC to create a distance learning support program at its Boynton Beach and Palm Beach Gardens locations. This provided a safe place for children of working parents to attend virtual classes, while giving them a sense of normalcy and the opportunity to socialize. The program also offered parents peace of mind that their kids would stay on top of their studies – as well as some much needed respite.

J-Help Spotlight

When social distancing guidelines limited summer camp offerings, J-Help Coronavirus Emergency Response provided financial assistance for families to enroll their kids in the Mandel JCC's innovative Summer Days at the J program that kept children active and connected.

Promoting Holocaust Education in Local Schools

When questions were raised about how Florida's Holocaust education mandate was being implemented in local schools, our Jewish Community Relations Council (JCRC) formed a partnership with the School District of Palm Beach County to ensure more than 100,000 local students are learning about the Holocaust and the consequences of antisemitism.

Combating Antisemitism on College Campuses

Addison, a student at Florida Atlantic University, encountered antisemitic graffiti on campus. He contacted Hillel of Broward and Palm Beach, a partner of Federation, which worked with the university to remove the graffiti and investigate the culprit. With Addison's help, Hillel used the incident as a unique opportunity to educate students across campus about the consequences of hatred. "I knew to come to Hillel to handle this," said Addison. "I knew how to have conversations with other students on campus about our community, about antisemitism. ... I have that safe space to go and handle these situations with me."

J-Help Spotlight

Many synagogues and Jewish organizations were forced to temporarily close their physical locations during the pandemic. J-Help ensured patrols to identify security risks, vandalism and to work with law enforcement to report potential threats.
