FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q. Is the cost of this mission tax-deductible?

Per IRS regulations, the cost of goods and services cannot be claimed as charitable contribution. Therefore, the cost of this mission is not tax-deductible. Jewish Federation of Palm Beach County does not render tax or legal advice. Please consult your tax advisor.

Q. Will you be able to accommodate special dietary needs?

- Yes. When you register, please indicate that you have special dietary requests in the comments section (vegetarian, vegan, gluten free, etc.).
- All meals included in the mission will be kosher, in compliance with local municipal rabbinates.

Q. I will be traveling on my own. Is it possible to find someone with whom I can share a room?

Yes. We will try to find same-gender roommates. Please contact Ronit Chia at ronit.chia@jewishpalmbeach.org or 561.242.6630.

Q. What is not included in the cost of the mission?

- Air travel to and from Israel
 - Please make your own flight arrangements to be in Israel no later than 12 noon on Wednesday, April 19, 2023.
- Travel insurance
- Souvenirs, room service, gifts, or any other personal items

Q. I want to go to Israel before/after the mission trip. What are my travel options?

To discuss personal travel logistics, please contact Ronit Chia at ronit.chia@jewishpalmbeach.org or 561.242.6630.

Q. Do I need to purchase travel insurance?

Travel insurance is strongly recommended. To purchase travel insurance, please contact your personal travel agent, or contact Ronit Chia at ronit.chia@jewishpalmbeach.org or 561.242.6630 for a list of recommended travel insurance providers.

Q. Will I have Wi-Fi access?

Yes, the tour bus and hotels will be equipped with Wi-Fi.

Q. What if I want to stay in a different hotel?

To ensure that all participants stay together and get the best possible prices and 5-star accommodations, staying in different hotels and locations becomes logistically challenging and could negatively impact the group bonding experience. For these reasons, we do not recommend you stay at a different hotel. We do encourage you instead to consider extending your stay.
